M. J. Mumford, of the Methodist church will deliver the address this year. The program to be presented will be, Mr. Brock presiding: Processional . . . Mabel VanDeusen Invocation . . . On Friday evening, June 2, there will be a reception to the patrons and friends of the high school from 7:30 to 9. The first part of the evening will be taken up with the display of the work which readily lends itself to exhibit purposes. It is intended at this time to select the things that are to be exhibited at the Lake county fair in September. At 8:15 the girls in the physical training class will give some of their folk dances and calisthenic work. This will be interspersed with musical numbers. If the weather permits dances will probably be given on the lawn.

The commencement exercises this year will be held on Monday, June 5. The Hon. Walt Ben Sawyer, former assemblyman and congressman will deliver the address on "The Paradise of Fools."

Everyone is invited to attend all of these closing exercises of the high school.

Ignatz Potz Sentenced to Be Hanged June 16

Ignatz Potz, confessed slayer of Wm. Peterson, Winthrop Harbor motorcycle policeman, stood before the bar in the circuit court at 10:15 Tuesday morning and was sentenced by Judge Charles C. Edwards, to be hanged on June 16, 1922, between the hours of sunrise and sunset. Potz, comparatively unaffected by the sentence, had nothing to say in his own defense, and while his aged mother and sister cried out their grief, Potz was marched back to the county jail to await death.

Lake Villa Baseball Season Opens Sunday

The Lake Villa Commercial Association Baseball club is opening their baseball season at their new grounds in Sherwood Park in the Village of Lake Villa on Grand ave. The opening game with the Opeka Stars of North Chicago. This is the only tile drained diamond in Northern Illinois. Parking space for a thousand cars. Grandstand and bleachers will be provided. Batteries for Sunday will be the famous Fansteel batteries of Waukegan, Davidson and Kingsley for Lake Villa.

Grade School Children Have Pictures Taken

The pupils of the grade school had their pictures taken last week, and each child came home with their photos on Monday. As the photographer came unexpectedly the children were not looking at their best, and most of them were "caught" with their hair "all must up." But children look good in pictures no matter their general appearance.

Author's Trip Almost Royal. Mark Twain says that when Bret Harte came out in 1870 to take the editorship of the proposed Lakeside Magazine in Chicago, that he crossed the continent in such a prodigious blaze of national interest and excitement that one might have supposed that he was the viceroy of India or a progress of Huley's comet come again after 75 years of lamented absence.

Woman's Club Notes

In looking over the programs issued by different clubs in the 10th district we were impressed by the following: "Collect for Club Women" which fills the front page of the Highland Park Woman's club year book. It can not fail to make a strong appeal to Christian club women.

"Keep us, O God, from pettiness; Let us be large in thought, word and deed. Let us be done with fault finding and leave off self seeking."

"May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face, without self pity and without prejudice."

"May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous."

"Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid."

"Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene and gentle."

"Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things of life we are as one."

"And may we strive to touch and to know the great common woman's heart of us all; And O Lord God, let us not let us not forget to be kind."

Marie Stuart.

Owing to the fact that five Mondays occur in the month of May, the next regular club meeting will not be held until June 5. At that time the annual election of officers will be held.

June 10th, a reception to the new officers will be given under the direction of the Social committee. This reception will mark the close of the year's program and the Woman's club feels that it has earned its summer siesta.

The library committee wish it understood by the reading public that the library will be open every Wednesday and Saturday evenings from seven o'clock until eight-thirty. Also it will be open Saturday afternoons between the hours of two and four o'clock. To have a library of three hundred and fifty books suddenly placed at our disposal is a little time to become familiar with the rules and regulations.

The books are there to be loaned and to be read. Get the habit boys and girls, you will never regret it.

Trevor Social Center Gets State Charter

The village of Trevor is not going to be behind when it comes to promoting recreation. A formal charter for the Trevor Social Center association was filed for record with the register of deeds. The new incorporated organization, has a capital stock of $2,000 divided into shares of $10 each and it is the plan of the organization to promote the right kind of athletics and outdoor sports for the people residing in and near the village. Charles H. Oetting, Fred J. Meyer and L. H. Mickle are named as the incorporators of the organization. It is expected that 200 members of the social center will be secured and that its activities will extend into many lines.

Old Settlers' Picnic, June 15

The Old Settlers' picnic will be held at Union Grove on Thursday, June 15, according to plans made at the annual meeting of the Racine County Old Settlers' society, which met on Saturday afternoon at Union Grove. John S. Blakey was again chosen president of the society. Other officers elected were: J. T. Gittings, secretary and Jos. Schroeder, treasurer, the latter succeeding the late Hiram J. Smith, whose death occurred during the year.

Gipsies in History.

The original gipsies appeared in Europe at about the beginning of the Sixteenth century. It is probable that they were of Hindu origin and were either exiled because of their religious beliefs or ran away from the persecution of Timur, the great Tartar conqueror who invaded India. As their origin was a mystery to Europe when they appeared on its Eastern plains, some German savant decreed that they were Egyptians. The popular corruption of the word "Egyptian" is the name by which they are now known the world over.

A Holy Trust.

As many people are aware, most of the older streets in Montreal are named after saints, male and female. A progressive Yankee has a typical American drug store at the corner of two of these streets, and last summer he put the following sign in his window: "Meet your girl here for an ice cream soda." This is where St. Thomas meets St. Genevieve. —Harper's Magazine.

YEAR'S WORK EXHIBITED BY GRADE PUPILS

The exhibition at the grade school Friday night proved to be a big success despite weather conditions. The room in which the entertainment of the visitors was held was filled to overflowing.

Each class gave an exhibition in some part of their year's work and their efforts were enthusiastically applauded. The work of each class as displayed in the several rooms speaks very highly for work of the teachers and principal, Mr. McTaggart.

The cash prizes as awarded by the judges for the best sewing exhibit for the girls and bird house for the boys were as follows:

Sewing—Primary department: Lilian Bartlett, second grade, $2; Opal Cooper, second grade, $1. Second primary department: Esther Barthel, fourth grade, $2; Hazel Musch, fourth grade, $1. Intermediate department: Mary Hay, fifth grade, $2; Edna Verrier, sixth grade, $1. Grammar department: Georgia Bacon, seventh grade, $2; Hilma Rosling, seventh grade, $1. ## Man Found Dead at Home at Grass Lake

Jacob LeFebvre, 71 years old, of Milwaukee, was found dead last Friday on the floor of a half constructed summer home, which he was building at Grass Lake for his son. The latter lives in Kenosha. No one was found who had seen the man fall and there were no bruises which might indicate distress.

Persons living in a home nearby noticed that work had suddenly stopped and went to investigate. They found Mr. LeFebvre lying on the floor dead.

Junior Class Shows Movies

The junior class of the high school are giving a moving picture show at the Majestic theatre tonight. Shirley Mason is being shown in her best release, "Jackie." A comedy, "A Perfect Villain," will also be shown.

Commercial Men Meet to Arrange Detour of Road

Members of the Commercial association met at the village hall Monday night to plan a detour for autoists who wish to visit Antioch and the Lake region this summer. The Lake Villa road which is now being reconstructed will necessitate a roundabout way, and it is the plan of the Commercial association to placard the road from Niles, just west of Evanston, all the way to Antioch, a distance of about forty miles. The route will be Waukegan road to Grand avenue, and west of Wedge's Ice cream stand, and then north through Millburn to Hickory. Turn west at Hickory to Lake Villa road, through to Antioch. This route will have to be used practically all the early part of the summer as the road is being paved from Lake Villa station through to Antioch south limits.

"Bob" Wilton Saves Game for Antioch

Antioch defeated the Somers' Specials, of Somers, Wis., at the west side ball park by a 8 to 7 score. Brogan, a newly acquired hurler from Chicago, proved a fizzle, being hit hard by the Somers' sluggers before Manager Tarbell could get "old reliable" Bob Wilton warmed up. After Bob got working nicely the Wisconsin batsmen could only get him for a couple of scratch hits in the remaining innings. This is the third straight game Bob has had to pull out of the fire, and it is probable that he will start next Sunday's game.

The Antioch boys are hitting the ball in great style and with a good brand of pitching should give any team in Lake county, or any other county, a real game of ball.

Next Sunday Antioch plays Johnsonburg and on Tuesday, Memorial day, the First National Bank team, of Kenosha, will play here. The attendance is slowly increasing, and with the summer resisters putting in an appearance, it is expected the new grandstand will be filled at every exhibition.

Winch's Pavilion Opens Season Saturday Night

Winch's Channel Lake pavilion will open Saturday evening for the summer season. Mr. Winch anticipates the largest season in history for the lake region. He has added a restaurant to his already finely equipped pavilion. It has been arranged so that parties may spend the entire day without leaving the pavilion. In addition to the restaurant, dancing, bowling, pool, boating, bathing and numerous other innovations have been installed for the benefit of the pleasure-seeking party.

There will be a dance on Saturday, May 27, Sunday, May 28, and Monday, May 29.

Wilmot Loses to East Troy

After battling eight innings without a score Edgar's support failed him and a miscue gave East Troy four runs before the side could be retired. Wilmot could not score in their half of the inning. Edgar and Moulton pitched on practically even terms throughout the game. Wilmot had men on bases in every inning but the timely hitting of Sparrow and Brown, both of whom were absent was sadly missed. L. Hegeman's hitting featured for Wilmot.

Memorizing Warth White.

Till he has fully tried it, I suspect a reader does not know how much he would gain from committing to memory passages of real excellence; precisely because he does not know how much he overlooks in merely reading. Learn one true poem by heart, and see if you do not find it so. Beauty after beauty will reveal itself, in chosen phrase, or happy music, or noble suggestion otherwise undreamed of. It is like looking at one of nature's wonders through a microscope. —Vernon Lushington.

Another Efficiency Test.

If you wish to set your friends an efficiency test, ask them to write down in figures, twelve thousand, twelve hundred and twelve. They will jot down 12 at once—then puzzle for a moment—and then realize that there is a catch in it. The figures that should be written down are 13,212.

20 Years Ago in Antioch

Thursday, May 29, 1902

Mrs. Walter Palmer of Lake Villa, was an Antioch visitor Monday.

A. N. Tiffany was transacting business in the county seat Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mathews spent the first of the week in Burlington.

Walter Chinn, who is employed at the Kenosha Knitting Mills, is spending a week's vacation at his Antioch home.

Barney Naber is raising his harness shop and will build an addition on the rear and otherwise improve the building.

Mrs. D. B. Sabin of Antioch called on Lake Villa friends Saturday.

A class in physical culture has been formed and is in charge of Miss Cora White. The class meets at the church every Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mann of Antioch visited last week with Mrs. A. Savage at Hickory. Irene Savage was under the doctors care last week.

Several Minor Accidents at Baseball Game

The base ball game of last Sunday had several "freak" accidents, probably more than will appear during the remainder of the season. Robert Ludwig, of Evanston, was sitting in the old third base bleachers and was struck by a foul ball. The ball was hit high and while trying to dodge it as it descended, he was hit on the back, falling down three rows of seats. It was almost an hour before he was relieved of the pain. Shortly afterwards another out-of-town visitor was slightly injured. A lady friend of Ed. Bromon, who started pitching for Antioch, was struck by a foul ball while sitting in a Ford sedan. The ball smashed through the glass, and the flying glass made a small cut on her hand.

Another accident was in the last inning of the game, when one of the opposing batsmen fouled all the balls the manager had over the fence and while waiting for some of them to return, Wilton, who was pitching for Antioch, was in a sitting position, when one of the balls re-appeared and was thrown back to Wilton, who failed to see it coming. It struck him in the stomach, knocking him over. It was about ten minutes before "Bob" could work up enough wind to finish the game.

Minstrels to Be Here Monday and Tuesday

The American Legion minstrels of Burlington, Wis., will give two performances at the opera house for the benefit of the Antioch fire department. The dates are Monday and Tuesday, May 29 and 30. The troupe of black faced comedians have been giving shows for the past month, playing to packed houses in Burlington, and showing in several of the surrounding towns, where they have been asked to play for various benevolent societies. They have proven very popular wherever they have played and it is expected that the opera house will not be large enough to hold the crowds that will want to see the "darkies," Sambo and Bones, and the rest of the cast "pull off" their jokes and song hits.

Next Sunday, the first Sunday after the ascension, all services will be held an hour earlier, and this program will be continued throughout the summer. That means that the church school will start at 8:45 and the church services at 10. During the summer the service will only be an hour in length and everyone will be out by 11. No one will be able to have the excuse of staying home to get a dinner, etc. Please notice this change and be on time next Sunday.

Quirinal Originally Church Property.

The Quirinal is one of the seven hills upon which Rome stands; it was dedicated by the ancient Romans to Romulus, or Quirinus. The Quirinal palace was built in the Sixteenth century by the Roman Catholic church, but after the breach between the church and state in 1870 it became the residence of the Italian kings. The Quirinal, as it is figuratively used, means the court of united Italy and the non-republican regime.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT CEMETERY

Appropriate Program Has Been Arranged by Daughters of G. A. R.

PARADE AT 10 A. M.

Tuesday, May 30th, Decoration day services will be held as usual in Antioch's beautiful cemetery.

Under the direction of the Daughters of the G. A. R. a full and appropriate program has been arranged.

Every effort will be made that day to honor the surviving comrades of the '60's and to pay a loyal tribute of remembrance to the comrades who gave their lives in the struggle to defeat the stars and bars in order that we might have the stripes and stars.

The schools, churches, public buildings and business houses, are asked to honor the day and the occasion by raising the flag to half mast. Private homes throughout the community are urged to "fling the stony banner out" from every home and thus tell the world that America never forgets her dead.

The line of march will form at the grade school at 10 a. m. sharp and will be led by the band. Several autos have been secured for the purpose of bringing into the line of march all Civil War veterans and honorary members of the Foresters. The cars will call at the home at 9:30 a. m., then fall in line behind the band. The Daughters of the G. A. R. will be followed by the school children bearing the wreaths and flowers. The presence and cooperation of the boys of the world war would be greatly appreciated.

The high school pupils under the direction of Mr. Bright are urged to take their places in the line of march.

Patriotism demands that we turn aside for this day and on the consecrated ground where we laid the boys in blue to rest, learn lessons that will make better American citizens.

Within the cemetery the children will decorate the marked graves after which the services at the grave of "The Unknown Dead" will be led by the Foresters. The address of the day will be given by Rev. Mumford, himself the son of a veteran of the '60's. The program includes special music by the male quartet as well as the band and one or two patriotic recitations.

Decoration day, given by the Nation to the surviving comrades of the '60's for a public holiday in which due observance could be taken in memory of comrades fallen—has been stolen from its first high original purpose—and by our carelessness and thoughtlessness we are drifting, sadly drifting away from the true observance of Decoration day. Is there not one day when we can hush all until the Sabbath quietness honors the memory of men who died under Sheridan at Stone river or marched with Sherman to the sea, to make a thoroughfare for freedom and never came back. What is Decoration day? our children ask. Shall we answer, a day for hilarious fun—baseball and picnics?

A lack of attention to the great subject has allowed us to drift into a whirlpool of festivity, when instead every drop of patriotic blood should run tingling when we remember the day and its object. Can we not as a Nation turn from world, pursuit and amusements and with these veterans of Part Donelson and Vicksburg, of Antietam and Chickamauga, of Andersonville and Libby prisons, kneel with uncovered head and with tribute of flowers pay homage to him who gave his life for our preservation? Where better can our children learn to love their country than at these graves, listening to the deeds of these young men, boys almost, who when the Nation was in danger left home and went forth to death at their country call? At their graves would we teach that patriotism so necessary to the rising generation.

In the name of childhood on whose shoulders this Nation must soon rest, in the name of patriotism, let us lay aside our amusements and for this one day gather to honor our Nation's defenders. Every consideration of right and patriotism demands that we return to the original conception of Decoration day. Let the Nation never forget her dead and she shall always be remembered by her living.

No Chance.

Mayor Lew Slonk visited school No. 8, and warned the boys and girls of the many traffic dangers, and explained to them their part in keeping the streets "safe for boys and girls." He asked the boys how many wished to be police officers.

"I want to be a cop," he piped.

"Are you Irish?" the mayor asked.

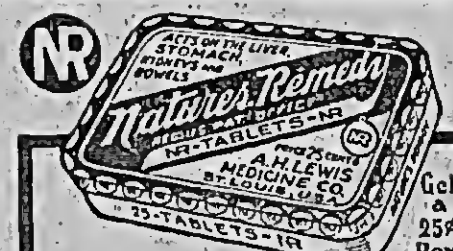

"Nope," came the reply.

THE FIGHT.

Synopsis.—With his grandfather, small Ramsay Milholland is watching the "Decorated Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youngster with the significance of the great conflict, and many years afterward the boy was to remember his words with startling vividness. In the schoolroom, a few years after, Ramsay is not distinguishable for remarkable ability, though he pronounced himself an arithmetic, "Recitations" and German. In sharp contrast to Ramsay's backwardness is the precocity of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denominated "Teacher's Pet."

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

Here was a serious affront, at least to Ramsay Milholland's way of thinking; for Ramsay, also now proved sensitive. He quieted his friends—"Shut up!"—and advanced toward Wesley. "You look here! Who you callin' pups?"

"Everybody!" Wesley hotly retorted. "Everybody that goes around mentioning ladies' names on the public streets are pups!"

"They are, are they?" Ramsay asked hotly. "Well, you just look here a minute; my own father mentions my mother's name on the public streets whenever he wants to, and you just try callin' my father a pup, and you won't know what happened to you!"

"What'll you do about it?"

"I'll put a new head on you," said Ramsay. "That's what I'll do, because anybody that calls my father or mother a pup—"

"Oh, shut up! I wasn't talkin' about your old father and mother. I said everybody that mentioned Dora Yocum's name on the public streets was a pup, and I mean it! Everybody that mentions Dora Yocum's name on the pub—"

"Dora Yocum!" said Ramsay. "I got a perfect right to say it anywhere I want to. Dora Yocum, Dora Yocum, Dora Yocum!"

"All right then, you're a pup!" Ramsay charged upon him and received a smacking blow full in the face, not from Mr. Bender's fist but from the solid bundle of books at the end of the strap. Ramsay saw eight or ten objectives instantly: there were Wesley Benders standing full length in the air on top of other Wesley Benders, and more Wesley Benders zigzagged out sideways from still other Wesley Benders; nevertheless, he found one of these and it proved to be flesh. He engaged it wildly at fist-cliffs, pounded it upon the countenance and drove it away. Then he sat down upon the curbstone and, with his dizzy eyes shut, leaned forward for the better accommodation of his ensanguined nose.

Wesley had retreated to the other side of the street, holding a grimy handkerchief to the midmost part of his pallid face. "There, you old-d-n pup!" he shouted, in a voice which threatened a sob. "I guess that'll teach you to be careful how you mention Dora Yocum's name on the public streets!"

At this, Ramsay made a motion as if to rise and pursue, whereupon Wesley fled, waving back over his shoulder as he ran, "You wait till I catch you out alone on the public streets and I'll—"

His voice was lost in an outburst of shouting from his former friends, who sympathetically surrounded the wounded Ramsay. But in a measure, at least, the chivalrous fugitive had won his point. He was routed and outdone, yet what survived the day was a rumor, which became a sort of tenuous legend among those interested. There had been a fight over Dora Yocum, it appeared, and Ramsay Milholland had attempted to maintain something derogatory to the lady, while Wesley defended her as a knightly youth should.

The boys, unimpaired of proper gallantry, supported Ramsay on account of the way he had persisted in likin' the stuff out of Wesley Bender after receiving that preliminary wallop from Wesley's blackjack bundle of books. The girls petted and championed Wesley; they talked outrageously of his conqueror; fiercely declaring that he ought to be arrested; and for weeks they maintained a new manner toward him. They kept their facial expressions hostile, but perhaps this was more for one another's benefit than for Ramsay's; and several of them went so far out of their way to find even private opportunities for reproving him that an alert observer might have suspected them to have been less indignant than they seemed—but not Ramsay. He thought they all hated him, and said he was glad of it.

save never the slightest sign of comprehending that there had been a fight about her. Having no real cognizance of Messrs. Bender and Milholland except as impediments to the advance of learning, she did not even look demure.

CHAPTER IV.

With Wesley Bender, Ramsay was again upon fair terms before the winter had run its course; the two were neighbors and, moreover, were drawn together by a community of interests which made their reconciliation a necessity. Ramsay played the guitar and Wesley played the mandolin.

All ill feeling between them died with the first dust of spring, yet the thinking they made had no charm to soothe the savage breast of Ramsay whenever the Teacher's Pet came into his thoughts. He day-dreamed a thousand ways of putting her in her place, but was unable to carry out any of them, and had but a cobwebby satisfaction in imagining discomfitures for her which remained imaginary. "Just once!" he said to Fred Mitchell. "That's all I ask, just once. Just gimme one chance to show that girl what she really is. I guess if I ever get the chance she'll find out what's the matter with her, for once in her life, anyway." Thus it came to be talked about and understood and expected in Ramsay's circle, all male, that Dora Yocum's day was coming. "You'll see!" said Ramsay. "The time'll come when that old girl'll wish she'd moved out of this town before she ever got appointed monitor of our class! Just you wait!"

They waited, but conditions appeared to remain unfavorable indefinitely. Perhaps the great opportunity might have arrived if Ramsay had been able to achieve a startling importance in any of the "various divergent yet parallel lines of school endeavor"—one of the phrases by means of which teachers and principal clogged the minds of their untrained auditors. But though he was far from being the dumb driven beast of misfortune that he seemed in the schoolroom, and, in fact, lived a double life, exhibiting in his out-of-school hours a remarkable example of "secondary personality," a creature fearing nothing and capable of laughter; blue-eyed, fairly robust, and anything but dumb—he was nevertheless without endowment or attainment great enough to get him distinction.

He "tried for" the high-school eleven, and "tried for" the nine, but the experts were not long in eliminating him from either of these competitions, and he had to content himself with cheering instead of getting cheered. He was by no means means athletic or enough of anything else, to put Dora Yocum in her place, and so he and the great opportunity were still waiting in May, at the end of the second year of high school, when the class, now the "30 A," reverted to an old fashion and decided to entertain itself with a woodland picnic.

They gathered upon the sandy banks of a creek in the blue shade of big, patchy-barked sycamores, with a dancing sky on top of everything and gold dust atwinkle over the water. Hither the napkin-covered baskets were brought from the wagons and assembled in the shade, where they appeared as an attractive little meadow of white napery, and gave both surprise and pleasure to communities of ants and to other original settlers of the neighborhood.

From this nucleus or headquarters of the picnic, various expeditions set forth up and down the creek and through the woods that bordered it. Two eviled boy fishermen established themselves upon a bank upstream, with hooks and lines, thoughtfully brought with them, and poles which they fashioned from young saplings. They took mussels from the shallows, for bait, and having gone to all this trouble, declined to share with friends less energetic and provident the perquisites and pleasures secured to themselves.

Albert Paxton was one person who proved his enterprise. Having visited the spot some days before, he had hired for his exclusive use throughout the duration of the picnic an old rowboat belonging to a shanty squatter; it was the only rowboat within a mile or two and Albert had his own uses for it. Albert was the class lover and, after first taking the three chaperon teachers "out for a row," an excursion concluded in about ten minutes, he disembarked them; Saddle Clews stepped into the boat, a pocket camera in one hand, a tennis racket in the other; and the two spent the rest of the day, except for the luncheon interval, solemnly drifting along the banks or grounded on a shoal. Now and then Albert would row a few strokes, and at almost any time when the populated shore glanced toward them, Saddle would be seen photographing Albert, or Albert would be seen photographing Saddle, but the tennis racket remained an enigma. They were sixteen, and had been "engaged" more than two years.

On the borders of the little meadow of baskets there had been deposited two black shapes, which remained undisturbed throughout the day, a closed guitar case and a closed mandolin case, no doubt containing each its proper instrument. So far as any use of these went they seemed to be of the same leisure class to which Saddle's tennis racket belonged, for when one of the teachers suggested music, the musicians proved shy. Wesley Bender said they hadn't learned to play anything much and, besides, he had a couple of broken strings he didn't know as he could fix up; and Ramsay said he guessed it seemed kind of 'too hot to play much. Joining friends, they organized a contest in marksmanship, the target being a floating can which they assailed with pebbles; and after that they "skipped" sat stances upon the surface of the water, then went to join a group gathered about Willis Parker and Heinie Krusemeyer.

No fish had been caught, a lack of luck grossly attributed by the fishermen to the noise made by constant advice on the part of their attendant gallery. Messrs. Milholland, Bender, and the other rock throwers came up shouting, and were ill received.

"For heaven's sakes," Heinie Krusemeyer demanded, "can't you shut up? Here we just first got the girls to keep their mouths shut a minute and I almost had a big pickerel or something on my hook, and here you got to up and yell so he chases himself away! Why can't nobody show a little sense sometimes when they ought to? A fish isn't got to bite when he can't even hear himself think! Anybody ought to know that much!"

But the new arrivals heeded "Fish!" Ramsay volunteered, "I'll bet a hundred dollars there hasn't been even a minny in this creek for the last sixty years!"

"There is, too!" said Heinie, bitterly. "But I couldn't be surprised there wouldn't be no longer if you got to keep up this noise. If you'd shut up just a minute you could see yourself there's fish here."

Ramsay leaned forth over the edge of the overhanging bank, a dirt preoccupied five feet above the water, and peered into the indeterminate depths below. The pool had been stirred, partly by the ineffectual pokings of the fishermen and partly by small clouds and bits of dirt dislodged from above and the feet of the noddies. The water, consequently, was but brownly translucent and revealed its secrets reluctantly; nevertheless certain dim little shapes had been observed to move within it, and were still there. Ramsay failed to see them at first.

"Where's any old fish?" he inquired, scornfully.

"Look!" whispered the girl who stood nearest to Ramsay. She pointed. "There's one. Right down there by Willis' hook. Don't you see him?"

Ramsay was impressed enough to whisper, "Is there? I don't see him. I can't—"

The girl came closer to him and, the better to show him, leaned out over the edge of the bank and, far safety in maintaining her balance, rested her left hand upon his shoulder while she pointed with her right. Thereupon something happened to Ramsay. This touch upon his shoulder was almost nothing, and he had never taken the slightest interest in Milia Trust, (to whom that small worm hand belonged), though she was the class beauty, and long established in the office. Now, all at once, a peculiar and heretofore entirely unfamiliar sensation suddenly became important in the upper part of his chest. For a moment he held his breath, an involuntary action—he seemed to be standing in a shower of flowers.

"Don't you see it, Ramsay?" Milia whispered. "It's a great big one. Why, it must be as long as—as your shoe! Look!"

Ramsay saw nothing but the thick round curl on Milia's shoulder. That curl was shot with dazzling flurs of sunshine. He seemed to be trembling.

"The old resentment rose—he'd show that girl yet, some day."

RAIL OFFICIALS SEEK WAGE CUT

Will Make No Move to Reduce Rates Until Pay Is Lowered.

UP TO RAIL LABOR BOARD

Interstate Commerce Commission Withholds Decision on Question Until Wage Body Completes Its Hearing.

Washington, May 24.—There will be no move on the part of the railway managers to reduce rates until wages are lowered.

The railway labor board, which has the sole power to adjust railway wages, has practically completed its hearings in Chicago. A decision reducing wages of railway workers is expected from the board within a month. Not until the extent of this expected reduction is definitely made known will the railway executives move to lower their freight rates.

In the meantime, the decision prepared by the Interstate commerce commission ordering rate reductions will be withheld. This action is necessitated by the promise made to President Harding by railway executives last week, for a careful investigation of the rate situation to determine whether it is possible to lower freight tariffs. Before the study is completed, it is probable that the labor board's decision will be handed down.

It is now evident that President Harding has been unable to do what he expected in bringing about voluntary reductions by the railway managers. Control of the situation, however, still remains in the hands of the administration. If at any time it is convinced that the railroad managers are "stalling," it can immediately release the Interstate commerce commission's decision. The belief prevails, however, that the situation will undergo little change until the labor board has acted.

An official statement issued by the railway presidents stated that the committee meeting with the rate fixing body was appointed as a result of the meeting with President Harding and that the conference was for the purpose of "discussing the railroad situation."

But from a reliable source it was learned that the conference of the rail executives at the White House and the subsequent conferences all were brought about as a result of the nature of the proposed rate-reduction decision on which the Interstate commerce commission has been working several months.

This decision, it was stated, was complete on Friday of last week, but it was decided that it would be wise to make the announcement with our first determining the attitude of the railway officials. This resulted in President Harding inviting a selected group to dine with him. They could not then agree to a voluntary reduction and asked to be permitted to confer with the commerce commissioners.

The whole situation from the viewpoint of the railway officials hinges on whether the roads would turn a fair return on their investment under the proposed reductions. They contend that they cannot do so without corresponding reductions in "labor costs and are understood to have declared that they would thus advantage of the transportation act, which guarantees a fair return for the railroads. This would result in court action and the decision, it is said, is being held up in an effort to reach a compromise that would be acceptable.

GERMANY NEEDS FOODSTUFFS

Government's Official Organ Says Question of Feeding the People Is Serious One.

Berlin, May 24.—Vorwarts, the official organ of the government, commenting on the debate of the question of feeding Germany's population, which opened in the reichstag, says that the result is awaited with great tension.

"The outlook for the future," continues Vorwarts, "is anything but rosy, and this applies both to foodstuffs raised at home and those to be imported."

Prolongation of winter weather far into the spring has caused incalculable injury to the crops and it is futile to expect sufficient quantities of foodstuffs from the home harvest to come anywhere near appeasing the hunger of the population.

On the other hand, a new crisis is threatened in breadstuffs, owing to the steady depreciation of the mark and Germany's misplaced hopes in the Genoa conference, which closed without tangible results.

Yeggs Take $11,150.
Chicago, May 24.—While on his way to the Laramie State bank at 3205 West Twenty-second street, James Hainley, assistant cashier of the Shinclear Oil Refining company, was held up and robbed of $11,150 by three men.

Two of Crew Killed in Wreck.
Muskegon, Mich., May 24.—The engineer and fireman of Missouri, Kansas & Texas passenger train No. 3 were killed in a wreck south of Vanita, it was announced at the railway division headquarters here.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all I claim to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

Out of the Mouths of Babies.
You've heard about the little girl who was given a woolly bear that she would name "Gladly," after the bear in the hymn—"Gladly, my cross-eyed bear."

Another little girl was asked if she knew who Nero was.

"He's the Good Man," she answered, in awed tones.

"The Good Man? What makes you think he's the Good Man?" said her teacher.

Then, in answer, the little girl, still in awed tones, quoted the hymn, "Nero My God, to Thee!"

A Lone Exception.

"Somebody is always offering to make you rich."

"That's a fact," said the credulous citizen.

"But did a man ever attempt to make you take cold cash without having a string tied to his offer?"

"Only once, but after his keeper had called me aside and explained the situation, I handed it back."—Birmingham Age Herald.

Costly Language.

In one of the painful homes of the new rich, a man sat before a blazing fire, a clear between his teeth, a liqueur at his elbow. His friend sat opposite, likewise fortified.

"The host was bewailing the enormous cost of keeping his son at college."

"Such expenses!" he cried. "And the worst of all is the languages."

"Languages?" repeated his friend, "How's that?"

"Well," said the host, "there is one item in the bill which runs, 'For Scotch, $250.'"—London Answers.

Useless.

"Great men," said Chief Justice Taft at a dinner, "are usually taciturn men. Look at Edison, Henry Ford, Lincoln. All strong, silent fellows."

"Talkative men, after all—," and Mr. Taft chuckled. "Well, you know the Mark Twain story."

"Isn't Galtbell a splendid talker, though?" a friend said to Mark Twain. "Test I ever escaped from," Mark answered.

Cooperative Expert to Assist Milk Producers

When the committee of nine secured the assistance of Aaron Sapiro, of San Francisco in working out a new plan of milk marketing for the Chicago dairy district, they brought to Chicago the ablest authority in America on co-operative marketing of farm products.

Mr. Sapiro is attorney for 40 large co-operative marketing associations scattered from Vermont to California, which marketed more than $150,000,000 worth of products last year, as well as for 15 or more small, local associations.

While Mr. Sapiro is primarily an attorney, he is thoroughly conversant with every phase of co-operative marketing. He is just as competent to advise his organizations on matters of operation and financing as on questions of law. Some of his most brilliant work has been done on financing co-operative associations. He also directs the organization work in many of his associations. In other words, when he undertakes to assist any co-operative association he makes himself thoroughly familiar with its works all down the line.

All of the Sapiro organizations have been successful—conspicuously successful, in fact. A number of them have succeeded in obtaining for farmers twice as much of the consumer's dollar as they had been able to secure before the days of co-operation, others have been able to add materially to the prices which farmers received for their products. Only one co-operative organization with which Mr. Sapiro has ever been identified has failed. The cause of its failure was largely shortcomings in management, and it should be noted that it had had no connection with it for eighteen months before its failure.

Mr. Sapiro's first successes were scored in California, his home state. As a young lawyer in San Francisco he became interested in the struggles of the farmers of California to secure fair prices for their products through cooperation. As attorney for the prune growers of the Santa Clara Valley he attracted wide attention, and was soon employed by all of the cooperative associations in Northern California.

Two years ago he was called into Texas and Virginia to assist the cotton and peanut growers, and he quickly became a national figure in the co-operative field. In order to take care of his organizations, Mr. Sapiro last year established offices in New York, Dallas, Texas and Lexington, Ky., as well as his home office in San Francisco. The New York office is primarily to assist in financing, the others are located close to his co-operative associations.

Following is a list of the co-operative marketing associations organized and advised by Mr. Sapiro, together with some facts regarding the size of these organizations:

California Prune and Apricot Growers' association, San Jose, Calif., 11,000 members, annual business of more than $18,000,000. Markets 86 per cent of the prunes and 75 per cent of the apricots produced in California.

Methodist Episcopal Church News

SUNDAY SERVICES:
Sunday School ..... 9:45
Morning Service ..... 11:00
Epworth League ..... 7:00
Evening Service ..... 7:45

Every member of every church should take and read, every week, his own church paper, this was the truth strongly emphasized at the morning service last Sunday. All were reminded that for a number of years the General Conference had urged that every Methodist family take and read the church papers. It was pointed out that the great kingdom of God is waiting for the active co-operation of the membership of the churches which it is not getting in full measure because many of the members of the churches do not read their own church papers enough to know what is the plan and what is expected of them. The only remedy for this situation was declared to be for every member of the church to take the church paper and read it carefully every week. Some new subscriptions were taken at the close of the service. The price is one dollar from now till January.

The Sunday evening theme was "Up To Date Folks." It was shown that the only really up-to-date people are those who keep prayed up to date—that is, those who keep so constantly in prayer that their religious experience is a constantly flowing, bubbling fountain of joyous gladness. The men who have changed the course of the world's history were held up as examples of men of great prayer, daily prayer, much prayer, intense prayer. Emphasis was laid also on the fact that all people of real power have been such because they very definitely planned their special time and place for prayer every day.

The coming Sunday is Memorial Sunday and will be observed in the morning at 11:00 o'clock, with special music, flowers and patriotic address, all sold.

Two Paint Facts That You Should Know

WHEN you dip a brush into the average paint and spread it on a surface, you find it takes a lot of brushing to make it cover evenly. Also, that no matter how careful you are, it still shows the brush marks, or little ridges.

Between every one of those ridges is a thin streak. Therefore, the paint film is only as strong as those thin streaks.

Now, dip your brush into a can of Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint and spread it on the surface. You will be delighted to see how thoroughly it covers. Further, it will level up and dry with a smooth surface, without any ridges or thin streaks.

Doing that, you can easily see why High Standard costs less per job. It cuts down the cost of painting. And because it forms a uniformly thick film, it lasts longer, and looks better as long as it lasts.

Come in and ask for details and literature.

WILL COST $200,000 TO COMPLY WITH ORDER OF STATE COMMISSION

Illinois Bell Telephone Company's Answer to Illinois Commerce Commission's Citation Says Expenditure is Unwarranted

It will cost the subscribers of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company approximately $200,000 to have the company comply with the citation order of the Illinois Commerce Commission requiring the company to show cause why its rates in the territory surrounding Chicago should not be reduced.

In reply to the citation order of the commission, the company filed with it a sworn statement setting forth that the company's rate of return for its territory surrounding Chicago was less than four and one-half per cent, although it was allowed a return of six per cent by the Public Utilities Commission in the rate order entered December, 1920.

The company took the position that it should not be required to spend $200,000, the estimated cost of valuations and detailed statements requested by the commission, to justify rates which are earning less than five per cent.

Subscribers Pay Bill

The company set up in its answer that it was unjust to ask the company to make this expenditure, which, of course, would have to be reimbursed by increasing telephone rates in the territory affected.

It was asserted in the answer that the company's books are kept in accordance with the accounting rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which rules are those followed by the Illinois Commerce Commission as relating to telephone companies.

To force the company to make an accounting under the provisions of the commission's citation order would compel it to spend approximately $200,000, which is more than twenty-five per cent of the total amount received by it as a return on the value of its property devoted to the public use in the territory covered by the citation.

The company's answer declared that this was an unwarranted expenditure.

Company's Expenses Increased

The company is now operating under rates prescribed by the Public Utilities Commission in its order of December, 1920. It was estimated in this order that the company would have a return of about six per cent on its properties devoted to the public service. Instead of receiving this, the company's answer stated, its return has been less than four and one-half per cent. It also was pointed out in the company's answer that the company's expenses, increased in 1921 over the amount estimated by the commission, and that its expenses for the first three months of 1922 were in excess of its expenses for the first three months of 1921, with due regard to the increased growth in number of telephones.

The commission took the company's answer under advisement.

CHICAGO MILK

MARKETING PLAN

Plans for enlarging the Milk Producers Co-operative Marketing company of Chicago, including a new contract and a number of changes in the plan of operations of the company, have been completed by the committee of nine which was appointed for that purpose about a month ago.

The committee has decided that the interests of the producers would be best served by working with the present company, which is now handling about ten per cent of the milk in the district and owns plants valued at $70,000.

Aaron Spiro, famous co-operative attorney who helped organize the California co-operative fruit interests, was retained to draw up the contract.

The new contract will become effective Sept. 1, if 6,000 have been signed by that time.

In order to safeguard the interests of the producers who sign contracts, an operations committee will be created to keep a check on the business methods and overhead expenses of the company. The producers in each of nine districts will elect one of their number to this committee.

It is planned later to create a non-profit sales organization which shall have entire charge of marketing and in which each contracting producer shall be a voting member.

The committee of nine, which was appointed by the American Farm Bureau Federation to settle the problems that have arisen in the Chicago producing district is as follows: C. V. Gregory, editor Prairie Farmer; C. Larsen, Illinois Agricultural association; H. Hemmingway, Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation; Perry Crane, Indiana Farm Bureau Federation; J. T. Williams, Thomas Peene and A. C. Stoen, of the Marketing company; Dan Gilley, of Cook county; John Rathbun, of DuPage county.

TO AID FLOOD SUFFERERS

The I. A. A., the county farm bureau of Illinois, the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture and the Farmers Institute held a meeting at Springfield in which it was decided to co-operate in the raising of a fund of $250,000 by subscriptions to purchase seed and feed for the families wiped out by the flood of this spring.

It is estimated that more than twelve hundred farm families in Illinois lost their crops and a large share of their live stock in the April high water.

The I. A. A. is to take charge of the distribution of feeds. The College of Agriculture will direct the distribution of seed.

Much of the fund has already been raised and is in the hands of local chapters of the Red Cross.

THE CALYX SPRAY

Perhaps the most important spray to control apple worms is the one applied next and known as the Calyx spray. It should be applied when about three-fourths of the petals have fallen.

If the orchard has trees of early and late varieties there will be some difference in the date of blooming, so the spray will have to be applied at a time that strikes a happy medium for all varieties. The late ones may be just beginning to drop a few petals and the early ones may have lost all the petals.

Success with this spray depends on getting the spray material inside the calyx. A few days after the petals have fallen the calyx will close and no amount of spraying will be effective in controlling the worms from this first brood of codling moth. The poison must be inside the calyx before it closes. To do this the spray should be applied with enough pressure to force it into the calyx opening.

The worms do not hatch until after the calyx has closed. As soon as they are able to crawl they take a direct route to the blossom end of the little apple and force their way through tiny openings that may be left in the closed up calyx. As soon as they are inside they begin to eat and if the poison is not there they continue to eat and the result is a wormy apple.

Even if the dormant spray has not been applied begin your season's spraying with the calyx spray. Use 4 pounds powdered lime sulphur and one pound powdered lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water. Mix the lime sulphur and arsenate with water in a pail before dumping in the barrel or tank.

Be sure to keep the solution well stirred all the time or the arsenate will settle to the bottom making the top part of the solution weak and the last part of the application too strong.

An Esol Mystery

How the baby cels which push up the river from their birthplace in the depths of the ocean circumvent the falls of the Rhine and even Niagara falls is a puzzle science has so far been unable to solve.

... Proclamation ...

To the People of Illinois, Greeting:

It is our great privilege, at an appointed time each year, to join in a national tribute of gratitude and affection to our soldier and sailor dead. The blue-clad heroes of the civil war, soldiers and sailors of the war with Spain, and men of the great armies of the American Expeditionary Force lie in honored graves, at home and abroad. They gave their services and their lives for a united country, for humanity, for civilization. We mourn the valiant dead and deplore the great crises in our national life which required of them "the last full measure of devotion," but we have a great national pride in their bravery and patriotism which have preserved to us, intact, the heritage of free institutions handed down by our fathers to be held as a sacred trust for our children and their children. Their gallant deeds, on land and sea, have ever maintained unsullied the honor of our great American nation. Their hands have borne aloft, and raised high in the heavens, our starry banner of freedom as a symbol of courage, purity and justice; and as a promise of liberty to the oppressed people of the earth.

Whereas, the laws of Illinois, provide for the observance of the thirtieth day of May as a holiday;

Now, Therefore, I, Len. Small, governor of Illinois, do hereby appoint and designate Tuesday, the thirtieth day of May, 1922, to be celebrated throughout the state as Memorial day, and I ask the co-operation of the people of Illinois with the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Spanish War Veterans, the American Legion, the veterans of foreign wars, and their allied organizations in an appropriate observance of the day by garlanding with flowers and decorating with flags the graves of soldiers and sailors; and I further ask that in all communities there be held public memorial services and patriotic exercises in honor of our heroic dead.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Illinois to be affixed.

Firestone CORD TIRES

The tire section above at the left shows the condition of a Firestone 88x4 1/2 Cord Tire after 20,994 miles on a Yellow Cab in Chicago.

The section at the right was cut from a new Cord of the same size. Careful measurements show that only 1/3 of the tread of the tire on the Yellow Cab has been worn away after this long, grueling test. The carcass is intact after more than 11,000,000 revolutions.

Firestone Cords have averaged over 10,000 miles on Chicago Yellow Cabs (1,200 cabs all Firestone equipped). In thousands of instances, they have given from 10,000 to 80,000 miles.

Look at the tread—scientifically angled against skid, massive and heavy in the center where the wear comes, tapered at the edges to make steering easy and to protect the carcass against destructive hinging action of high tread edges. The carcass is air bag expanded to insure uniform tension and paralleling of every individual cord. It is double "gum dipped" to make sure that each cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber.

This is the reason why Firestone Cords unfailingly deliver extraordinary mileage. It explains the unanimous demand of thoughtful tire buyers for these values. The local Firestone dealer will continue to provide the personal service that makes Firestone tire comfort and economy complete.

TANLAC KEEPS HIM FIT, SAYS MCGRAW

Has Used It for Years With Splendid Results—Fine for Run Down Condition.

"For four years Tanlac has kept me in the pink of condition as I take a few doses of it every time I feel a little run down and it always builds me up again," said Wm. A. McGraw, 207 Beach Place, Tampa, Fla.

"I began taking Tanlac first about four years ago when I was in a very bad state of health and had been run down for several years. I was always taking laxatives, too, but I believe they did me more harm than good. Tanlac made me feel like a brand new man in a very short time and I have never had a return of any of my old troubles. The reason of this I am firmly convinced is that I always have Tanlac handy and take a few doses every time I feel a bit under the weather."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

LACK OF SHIPS CAUSE OF WAR

Harding Tells Commerce Convention Big Merchant Marine Is Vital.

PRESIDENT MAKES SPEECH

He Doubts If the Conflict Would Have Come If the United States Had Possessed a Large Commercial Fleet.

Washington, May 20.—Pleading for the development of an adequate merchant marine in an address before the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, President Harding expressed the belief that the world war could have been averted if the United States had possessed a merchant fleet commensurate with its position in the world.

"I am glad to come to you because it is merchant marine day on your program," the President said. "There is not one constructive thought in the mind of the administration at the present time that takes rank over a desire to firmly and successfully establish an American merchant marine. I do not know of any nation in the world that ever maintained eminence in trade that was not eminent as a carrier of trade."

The President called attention to the vast ship tonnage owned by the government at the close of the war, making it necessary for the government to go into the commercial shipping business.

"Now," he said, "we are asking congress to give us a merchant marine law that will serve to take the government out of the marine business."

The President urged the Chamber of Commerce to support the ship subsidy plan now pending in congress, the provisions of which were explained to the convention earlier in the day by Chairman Lusk of the shipping board.

Chairman A. D. Lusk, of the shipping board, asked American business men to help the administration place the American merchant marine on a parity with that of Great Britain through the establishment of a government subsidy.

Lusk dwelt upon the problems confronting the shipping board in providing facilities for carrying the overseas commerce of the United States and in liquidating the fleet which the government now owns.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

TOOK THREE ENEMY SCALPS

Exploit of Indian Girl Made Her Famous Among the Tribes of the Northwest.

One of the most warlike of Indian maidens was Hanging Cloud, a Chippewa girl, the daughter of Na-nong-ga-bee, chief of a branch of that tribe which occupied the territory around Rice Lake in northern Wisconsin, some 75 years ago. In her hair Hanging Cloud wore three eagle plumes, signifying that she had slain three enemy braves in battle.

This exploit she performed when a party, including herself and her father, were ambushed by a force of Sioux, the Chippewas' traditional enemies. Her father was slain, and Hanging Cloud, feigning death, waited until the Sioux came to secure the scalp of the slain Chippewa, and then, seizing her father's rifle, killed one and, in the pursuit which followed, succeeded in killing two more. She scorned to marry one of her own tribe, for she could not espouse herself to a lesser warrior than she, and so she finally married a white man, with whom she lived for many years near Rice Lake.

He Would Work Then.

Tired Tim knocked at the door of a cottage. It was a chilly day, and he was very hungry.

The old lady who opened the door was a good sort. She asked him into the kitchen and placed before him a nicely cooked meal, and asked him why he did not go to work.

"I would," replied Tim, "if I had the tools."

"What sort of tools do you want?" inquired the old lady.

"A knife and fork," said Tired Tim.

He Was Two of a Kind.

The marine was six feet five inches in height, and the quartermaster sergeant at Parris Island was a bit worried for fear he would be unable to find a uniform to fit him.

"You sure are a whopping big marine," he said at last. "I'll bet your father and mother were giants."

"Nope," said the husky. "Father was a little guy, only five feet four, and mother only came up to father's shoulder."

"That's odd—very odd!" commented the Q. M. How do you account for your huge size?"

"Well, sarge," explained the husky, "just between you and me I think I'm twins."

Of Another Race.

Mrs. Subbubs had hired a green country girl whose looks reflected the benefit of plenty of fresh air and wholesome country food. One morning Mrs. Subbubs entered the kitchen just after the grocer's boy had been there and she said to the girl: "Why, Hester, what a rasy, happy face you have this morning. You look as if the dew had kissed you."

Hester's face grew still rosier and her eyes sought the floor.

"Please'm," she murmured, "he isn't a Jew, his name is Michael."

When Hungry Little Muscles Say, "Please Help Me"

DID you ever stop to think who it really is that's talking, when childish voices raise a clamor, "Mother, I'm hungry?"

It's really muscles and bones and nerves and cells worn in the stress and strain of play—that are calling for rebuilding material.

What kind of an answer? The right thing, or just anything? It makes a big difference.

Grape-Nuts, so deliciously crisp and appetizing to taste, and so quick and convenient to serve, is a splendid food for rebuilding young bodies. All the wonderful nutrient put in wheat and barley by Nature, including the vital mineral elements, is there—and Grape-Nuts digests easily, quickly and completely. Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is exceptionally nourishing.

"That's splendid!" says appetite. "That's just the need!" say the hungry muscles, nerves and bones.

Ready to serve right from the package—always crisp and fresh. A favorite dish with all the family. Sold by grocers.
